

BFA Creative Writing

MAJOR: CREATIVE WRITING (BACHELOR OF FINE ARTS)

RELATED MAJOR: English (BA) MINORS OFFERED: English, Creative Writing, Film Studies

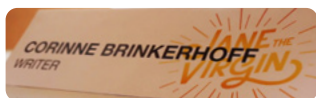

GRADUATE PROGRAMS OFFERED: Master of Arts in English, Master of Arts in Education

The Creative Writing program is led by professional, actively publishing faculty, including authors and screenwriters. You will engage in focused writing workshops across genres and topics. The program also features strong co-curricular offerings such as TruPoets, TruWriters, and the student-run literary journal Windfall. You will have the opportunity to regularly submit work for publication and will graduate with a robust portfolio, preparing you for success in the literary world.

FROM KIRKSVILLE TO HOLLYWOOD

Alumna (such as Akela Cooper and Corinne Brinkerhoff) have written for and produced major network and Netflix series such as The Good Wife, Luke Cage, American Gothic, Reckless, Jane the Virgin and Chambers.

In addition to our own award-winning faculty, The Clayton B. Ofstad endowment grants you access to several prestigious guest writers who visit each semester to work with our students through writing and professional development masterclasses.

THE CLAYTON B.

Ofstad
ENDOWMENT

The endowment also pays for students to attend and participate in regional and national creative writing workshops and conferences, as well as a week-long professional writers' retreat.

The department also hosts two reading series, the Clayton B. Ofstad Reading Series and our own series called "For Words."

WINDFALL LITERARY JOURNAL

Student-run journal which reviews, selects, and publishes every year.

Creative writers are in high demand for diverse fields such as publishing, teaching, journalism, filmmaking, media, editorial and literary consulting, law, and education.
