

Program: Military Science

PROGRAM: MILITARY SCIENCE & ARMY ROTC PROGRAM

MINORS OFFERED: Military Science

Truman's Military Science Department equips you with more than just military knowledge; it builds your leadership, resilience, and teamwork. Whether you're preparing for military service or simply want to grow your personal and professional skills, the program adds real value to your academic journey.

KEY DIFFERENTIATORS:

- LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT
- HANDS-ON TRAINING
- SCHOLARSHIP OPPORTUNITIES
- SUMMER TRAINING PROGRAMS
- SIMULTANEOUS MEMBERSHIP PROGRAM (SMP)

If you're looking to lead, challenge yourself, and gain hands-on experience, ROTC offers a structured but flexible way to grow. You'll develop real leadership skills while working toward your degree.

WHY ROTC?

You don't have to major in military science to join ROTC at Truman. You can pursue any degree while building leadership, discipline, and confidence. After graduation, you'll have options; serve active duty, join the Guard or Reserves, or take your skills into a civilian career.

AFTER GRADUATION:

Many graduates commission as officers in the U.S. Army, Army Reserve, or National Guard. Others use their leadership experience to thrive in business, government, and nonprofit careers.

ROTC at Truman isn't just for future soldiers; it's for future leaders. You'll gain discipline, decision-making skills, and purpose-driven experience that translate to success in any career field.
